

Shepherd's Bush and White City redevelopment

Work to build the Westfield London retail and leisure centre is well under way. £250 million is being invested on improved transport links to cope with the increased customer demand.

The project involves building an additional Hammersmith & City line station on Wood Lane – the first new station on an existing Tube line for over 70 years. There will also be a new bus station nearby.

At the other end of the development, Shepherd's Bush Central line station is undergoing a major upgrade. It will form part of a new major transport interchange with the new Overground station on the West London line as well as, bus, taxi and cycle routes.

We are working with Westfield to complete this project.
